Example

Below are examples of how you might write your solution to a puzzle presented in the booklet. Or you might prefer to just solve them in your head – completely up to you!

Q: Can you find checkmate in one for white?

Here, because the solution is only one move, you might draw arrows on the board or you can use the lines below to answer – or both!

Q: Can you find checkmate in two for white?

Here, the solution is a bit (OK a lot!) trickier and requires consideration of multiple variations. If you are familiar with coordinates, it is probably best that you write your answer out as shown.

1.Qe1 e6 (1..c6 2.Qa5#) 2. Qh4#

Deca

Can you remember the rules about when you can and can't castle? In these puzzles it is white to play. You have to decide whether white can castle kingside, queenside or not at all.

Mega

Getting the king safely castling is often one of our top objectives in the opening. In each diagram it is white to move. Your task is to prevent black from castling – or at least to discourage it!

Giga

In each diagram it is white to move and win material. Black has played the opening badly and now white can pounce.

Tera

Name the Opening.

Exa

Again you have to name the opening - but this time you also have to give the sub-variation. For instance in position 1 we have a Sicilian – but what variation of the Sicilian?

Fun Puzzles

Over the next couple of pages you will find some more casual puzzles starting out easy and getting much harder!

Rook Maze - Medium

In this rook maze white has to move the rook consecutively until it captures the black king. It is not allowed to capture any black pieces and cannot move to squares that are attacked by black pieces. The rook can capture the king in 11 moves – can you find your way through the maze?

Pawn vs The World

Difficulty: Hard

Strange as it may seem white can win this position with a forced checkmate in 16 moves!

Hint 1: Black doesn't have many moves – keep him as tied up as possible.

Hint 2: We don't always have to promote to a Queen...

Checkmate x 10

PUZZLE
OF THE
WEEK

Difficulty: Easier

Find the move that checkmates all 10 black kings !
